The imbecility of some men is always inviting the embrace of death. It is the delight of such men to boast of what "tough fellows" they are, and tell how they overwork themselves and how they neglect little disorders and little illnesses that put other people on their backs.

It may not sound nice to say so, but it is a fact that the average man is just that. He is a boastful, cheerful idiot. If his head aches, it isn't worth paying any attention to. If he feels ill and drowsy during the day, it isn't worth serious consideration, if he is troubled with sleeplessness at night, he doses himself with opiates. When he suffers from nervousness, he walks into the nearest drug store and orders powerful medicines that even a physician prescribes with care. He is a very knowing fellow, but without knowing it, he is buying death. There is a wonderful restorative tonic and health builder that will keep the hardest working man in good working shape, it is Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It is made of pure native roots and barks. It contains no minerals, no narcotics and no opiates. It simply aids nature in the natural processes of secretion and excretion. It tones up the stomach and facilitates the flow of digestive juices. It makes a man "eat as a horse" and then sees to it that the life giving elements of the food he takes are assimilated into the blood. It invigorates and drives out all impurities and diseases from the system. It is the great blood maker and flesh builder. It is the best of all nerve tonics. It cures bronchial, throat and lung affections as well.

"I had indigestion and a torpid liver," writes Mrs. A. J. Gibbs of Russellville, Logan County, Ky. "Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cured me."

If constipation is also present, Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets should be taken. They never fail they never gripe. Druggists sell both medicines.

Surmounting a Difficulty.

A busy government clerk hurried into an avenue pie foundry during the half hour allowed the department employees for luncheon. There were many little tables about, and each one was attended to by an ebony hued servant, who floated back and forth from a long counter that acted as a sort of a cooling station, laden with apple dumplings, deviled crabs, tripe and oysters and other similar dainties so familiar to the ordinary luncheon.

"Bring me a sandwich and a glass of milk," called the busy government man. The negro bolted away and quickly returned with the desired food and drink. The clerk stowed away the leaden sandwich and floated it with the lactul fluid.

"My check, in a hurry!" he shouted to the darky. The waiter pulled forth pad and pencil and began to laboriously inscribe weird characters on the paper. Twice did he seemingly finish the writing when he would stop, look at the result and tear up the bit of paper. At the third attempt the customer called again impatiently for the bill of damage.

The negro made a final effort and handed the clerk the check, on which was written, "One piece pie, one milk."

"Here," said the young man as he looked at the slip of paper, "I didn't order pie."

"I know, boss," replied the abashed servant, "but pie and a sandwich costs jes' the same, an I can't spell sandwich."—Washington Post.

Answered His Own Letter.

A certain young railroad man who has charge of a department in the auditing branch of his company's business had occasion recently to dictate a letter to the head of a corresponding department of another road. There was a point in dispute between the two railroads involving money, and this young official had taken a stubborn ground that the other official was totally at fault and advanced what seemed to him unanswerable arguments to prove it.

A short time after he had forwarded the letter he received a proposition from headquarters of the other railroad, which he accepted, and within a few days he became the head of the department with which he had been in dispute. The first letter which he found on file ready to be answered was his own on the point in question.

There was only one thing to do. He immediately dictated an answer to his own letter, refuting and repudiating its argument, and wound up by a heated insinuation that the writer of it was an unmitigated donkey. Of course, the letter was addressed to himself, but in his enthusiasm for the interests of his new employer he did not mind a little thing like that.—Chicago News.

Then There Was Trouble.

A well dressed, ladylike looking woman entered a car the other day with her little boy of about 6 years of age. On the conductor coming to collect the fares the lady handed her little son a quarter, he being nearer the door. The little fellow examined the coin carefully and then gave it to the conductor. Scarcely had the man returned the change than the youngster clapped his hands and, looking at his mother, exclaimed triumphantly:

"Mamma, mamma, he has taken the bad quarter!"

Why Are All Widows "Charming?"

"Now, I should like to ask you why men always speak of a widow as a 'charming widow,'" said a pretty Kirkwood girl. "There is a young widow at Kirkwood, and I am free to admit that she is charming, but she isn't any more charming than a dozen—yes, than at least 30—Kirkwood girls whom I could mention, and yet I have never heard a man refer to her except as the 'charming widow.'"—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

FELT BUT NOT EXPRESSED.

AN inquisitive crowd gathered at the depot yesterday morning to satiate its curiosity. That sounds harsh, but it is true.

There was a jamming, a corn tramping, a tiptoeing, a neck craning and an eyebulging—but no enthusiasm that was audible to the naked ear. Why didn't you or I have sense enough to propose three cheers, just for appearance's sake?

Through passengers looked out of the car windows and saw banners fluttering and bands playing but they noticed that the crowd was stone still.

We Nevadans may not wear our hearts on our coat sleeves but we should carry our voices in our throats.

Something was wrong. Even the returning troopers looked sad. The cheer they started as the train drew in died to a whisper when they saw the melancholia displayed on the faces of their friends.

It was a scene too mournful for tears. The band struck up, "See The Conquering Hero Come," when it should have rendered the Dead March in "Saul."

BOTH FEARLESS AND SKILLFUL.

THE troopers served their country well and bravely, whether in carbine charge upon the insurgent line, scouting singly or in squads through the tropical jungles, patrolling the captured villages or lying in the muddy trenches with the bullets of the enemy whistling about their ears.

The records of their service show that not a man was killed and but two were wounded by the Tagals. This does not indicate that they were not at the battle's front.

Our boys were not merely sure of aim. They knew how to protect themselves from the Mauser balls. Unlike the volunteers from the cities of the East, our boys were skilled in the tactics of the plainsman and the mountaineer. Their method of fighting was to lie low and aim low, to charge and drop to, fire and fall. Thus, while they wrought execution upon the foe, they escaped with nothing more serious than two wounds that were mere scratches.

HELD BY THE ENEMY.

FARRIER Elmer Honnyman and Private William Bruce, who fell into the hands of the enemy, are believed to be still in the land of the living.

They were captured, it will be remembered, while traveling on a pass through disputed territory from Cavite to San Roque.

When Malolos, the insurgent capital fell, their names were found inscribed upon the prison wall. When San Fernando, also for a time the seat of Aguinaldo's government, was taken by our troops, their names were again seen on the walls of the prison.

They left the same proof of existence at Isidro, where were also inscribed the name of Lieutenant Gilmore and his fifteen captured marines. Less than three months ago they were still alive and well cared for in the stronghold of Angeles. Unless they have succumbed to illness since that time the two missing members of Troop "A" are still prisoners of the Filipinos.

It was a pleasant surprise to notice how pert and plump our troopers looked. They were reported in bad shape some time ago, but the sea voyage and the good fare in San Francisco worked wonders upon them.

SUNDAY, NOVEMBER 19, 1899.

THE BOYS ARE GLAD AND SO ARE WE.

The boys are at home and the people made a gala day occasion to receive them. Patriotism was displayed by a profusion of bunting and gladness was the chief feature of the day.

One of the number that sailed away at the call of his country to sustain the honor of its flag in a foreign land gave up life upon its altar as a soldier and citizen. The citizen soldier is an outgrowth of American institutions and upon their decadence the service of the volunteer as now understood will be dispensed with, and the soldier of the regular establishment will take his place.

The volunteer soldier has a warm place in the hearts of his countrymen and he is welcome to occupy the place reserved to receive him. The time of the American volunteer soldier, that has shed the glory of free institutions from millions of hearth stones will close when war becomes a part of the business of the Republic, the expense of which will in the near future be classed as an additional burden upon the people, should the future policy of the country become a policy of war for the maintenance of outlying colonies.

The term colony is uncouth and harsh to American ears that have been accustomed to the music of freedom, but that has nothing to do with our happiness over the return of our beloved volunteers who represent in their persons a system that has given glory to their country in opposition to the military systems of European monarchies.

The volunteer so fully represents the American military idea for the perpetuation of freedom that his presence is a reminder that we are a free people and may continue to be. The volunteers will have to go and for that cause, if for none other, we are glad to look upon the boys in their blue as it represents the highest and most civilized military system devised for the protection of liberty.

The JOURNAL extends to the returned volunteers its kind regards accompanied by the hope that they will ever be ready and willing to defend the liberty of the people against foreign and domestic foes.

WON'T PAY TAXES.

As usual, the railroad company has refused to pay taxes on its street railroad property in San Francisco. The tax question has become a serious one to the people when organized capital is required to pay tax on its property at the rate a private citizen is required to pay on his property. Taxation of organized capital at a just valuation is almost impossible, as it controls courts, juries and political parties as a result of unopposed work for thirty years.

During the first ten years of its work to control the people and the government, state and national, its continued complaint was that it could not receive justice from the people. The people continued to yield to its demands till it became strong by imposition upon them. When it had become independent of the citizen it began to prescribe terms to those who believed they had personal rights in the form of threats which were too often carried into effect by its creatures till intimidation became the rule of its action against the citizen, which was so effective that many would speak in a whisper when they were directing attention to its villainies.

THE BOER WAR.

During the last few days 22,000 British troops in addition to the number that had arrived previous to last week were landed in South Africa.

General White's army is hard pressed at Ladysmith by the Boers, who act like they were determined to take the town before re-enforcements can reach it. The British are moving for the relief of White, and the Boers have detached from their force at Ladysmith 4,000 men to oppose the army advancing to the relief of the beleaguered town.

General Lucas Meyer, the Free State commander, declares that the Boers have sustained the last defeat they will receive during the present year. There is no doubt, from reliable reports given, that the Boers are in a position to resist a strong force, and they will undoubtedly use every means at their command to hold the territory they occupy in British South African possessions.

They Stand Together.

The Virginia militiamen stood together last night—some of them had to in order to keep erect. We don't make this as a bare, bald assertion; we were merely told so. One of their members was pulled for breaking a pane of glass in a saloon or some other trivial offense. When the news reached the pavilion that one of their members was in trouble the word was passed to the boys, and the young guardsmen left the hall and proceeded to the city cooler, where they tried all sorts of schemes to secure the release of their unfortunate brother.

The Comstock boys came down to have a good time, and they had it. They were the life of the parade and the inspiration at the banquet and reception. Barring the hard formation they ran up against in the shape of the cops, they had a jolly good time, and we hope they will be able to repeat it at no distant date.

ALFRED NELSON.

Would Not Suffer so Again for Fifty Times Its Price.

I awoke last night with severe pains in my stomach. I never felt so badly in all my life. When I came down to work this morning I felt so weak I could hardly work. I went to Miller & McCurdy's drug store and they recommended Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. It worked like magic and one dose fixed me all right. It certainly is the finest thing I ever used for stomach trouble. I shall not be without it in my home hereafter, for I should not care to endure the sufferings of last night again for fifty times its price.—G. H. Wilson, Liverman, Burgettstown, Washington Co., Pa. This remedy is for sale by W. Pinniger.

A Night of Terror.

"Awful anxiety was felt for the widow of the brave General Burnham of Mahoning, Me., when the doctors said she could not live till morning," writes Mrs. S. H. Lincoln, who attended her that fearful night. "All thought that she must soon die from pneumonia, but she began to improve under Dr. King's New Discovery, saying it had more than once saved her life, and had cured her of consumption. After three small doses she slept easily all night, and its further use completely cured her."

This marvelous medicine is guaranteed to cure all throat, chest and lung diseases. Only 50 cents and $1. Trial bottles free at S. J. Hodgkinson's drug store.

Spain's Greatest Need.

Mr. R. P. Oliva, of Barcelona, Spain, spends his winters at Aiken, S. C. Weak nerves had caused severe pains in the back of his head. On using Electric Bitters, America's greatest blood and nerve remedy, all pain soon left him. He says this grand medicine is what his country needs. All America knows that it cures liver and kidney trouble, purifies the blood, tones up the stomach, strengthens the nerves, puts vim, vigor and new life into every muscle, nerve and organ of the body. If weak, tired or ailing you need it. Every bottle guaranteed, only 50 cents. Sold by S. J. Hodgkinson, druggist.

Silver State Band.

The Nevada State Band of Carson consisting of twenty-five pieces, will go to San Jose to attend the golden jubilee that commences on December 20th and continues for five days. The San Joseans will hear some fine music when the sagebrush combination gets there, as there are few bands on the coast that are considered to be their equals. The Stewart Institute Indian Band will also attend the jubilee.

A Frightful Blunder

Will often cause a horrible burn, scald, cut or bruise. Bucklen's Arnica Salve, the best in the world, will kill the pain and promptly heal it. The Cavalry Boys and Their Deeds.

TROOP A. Nevada cavalry was mustered into the service of the United States in Keefe Hall, Cheyenne, Wyoming, on the 8th day of June, 1898.

June 13th the troop left Cheyenne for Camp Merritt, San Francisco, embarking November 6th on the transport City of Pueblo.

In exactly one month anchor was dropped in Manila bay. The troopers disembarked on the 10th and were assigned quarters at Fort Cavite where they did garrison duty until hostilities broke out, February 4, 1899. They participated in the battle of San Roque on the 9th and were moved that night to the Cavite causway.

Two days later they marched to Camp Rice where they constructed trenches and breastworks. They then returned to Cavite and guarded insurgent prisoners of war. This was two months of very unpleasant work, especially as the prisoners were stricken with disease and were dying daily.

On the 23rd of April at an hour's notice the troop was moved to Manila where the boys were kept in close confinement for ten days, awaiting marching orders. They were then put to guarding and patrolling the Cuartel del Infantario, the First Reserve hospital and the San Miguel district.

After thirty days of this work they were started on the 10th of June with Wheaton's brigade on the campaign to the southward. The second day they were out they marched twenty-five miles to San Pedro Macati, a running fight for the entire distance. The Nevada troop were on the advance line in this pursuit of the insurgents.

It was in this engagement that Private Taylor was slightly wounded in the neck and Private Niebuhr received a scratch in the leg from a Mauser.

From Macati the brigade proceeded to Imus, where the troop were mounted on native ponies.

The next incident was the advance upon and retreat from Dos Marinos. In the fifteen mile march upon the town there was fighting the entire distance. Our boys were in the front rank and were the rear guard in the retreat.

For some time after this they were engaged in scout duty, escort work and "pot-hunting." Their next station after Imus was at Bakoor.

From Bakoor they proceeded to Paranaque where they were stationed a few days. Their next move was to Malibay, in which place they were engaged six weeks, holding position on the line. After courier duty at nearby places they returned to Cavite and Manila, boarding the transport Ohio for home five weeks later.

Last fall I strained my left hip while handling some heavy boxes. The doctor I called on said at first it was a slight strain and would soon be well, but it grew worse and the doctor then said I had rheumatism. It continued to grow worse and I could hardly get around to work. I went to a drug store and the druggist recommended me to try Chamberlain's Pain Balm. I tried it and one-half of a 50-cent bottle cured me entirely. I now recommend it to all my friends.—F. A. BARCOCK, Erie, Pa. It is for sale by W. Pinniger.

The Parade.

The parade in honor of our brave boys in blue was the greatest military display that this city has ever seen. School children, cadets, volunteers and veterans of two wars were in line. There was a precision in step and an absence of confusion, halts and delays that made the whole event seem like something that had been rehearsed and practiced for weeks. Even the tots from the primary schools kept perfect time and distance.
We pause right here to present Bert Cahlan, the grand marshal, with a big bouquet, for it was due largely to his efforts that the parade was the success it was.
The several divisions lined up at 2 o'clock and everything was in readiness when the cadets and band from the university marched down the hill and swung into position.
The parade formed on Plaza street. First in line was a hot combination band made up of the Comstock aggregation and Hastings' windjammers of Reno.
Then came the nattily attired Virginia militia. There were two companies of them. Company A numbered 48 men, each of whom wore the regulation tuckered back blue coat and white duck trousers. Company B wore the same style of coats and any old kind of pants. The men all carried the old reliable Springfield rifle. These boys stepped along like automatons, every man jack of them with face to the front and a look of "do or die" in their eyes.
Next came the old guard, leading the way for the heroes of the occasion. O. M. Mitchell Post, Grand Army of the Republic, if you please. Thirty grizzled and gray old veterans of a war that was a war. The old fellows forgot that their rheumatiz was getting pecky mesu, and that there was a stoop coming into their backbones. These bloody abolitionists straightened up till they tipped back and walked on their toes. Hurrah for the old guard! May they live to see the conquering heroes return from our next war; and may that war be a long way in the future.
Hear the crowd howl! A thin blue line advances! Forty-seven men all told, but a match for a regiment of Tagals. The Nevada Cavalry is passing. Lift your hats and wave your parasols if you feel too dignified to yell like this fool reporter does. Scotty and his husky lads must hear and see the commotion we are stirring up, but they are not playing to the grand stand—like our friend Saxton in the next division. They march along like they did from Manila to Macati—in a very business-like manner.
Captain Cox, every inch a soldier, leads his little band, the redoubtable Troop M of Torrey's Rough Riders that has been a dyspeptic and disgruntled outfit ever since they were taken as near the seat of war as Jacksonville and then not allowed to scrap.
The Nevada Battalion, or what is left of it within speaking distance of Reno, came next. Captain Stoddard commanded his company.
How that cadet band did blow itself! Gabe Hoskins of the preparatory class felt as proud of his red stripes as he did of the harmonies he was creating.
The cadets, with shouldered arms, marched in even better shape than did the Union army when it wended its way from the scene of the first battle of Bull Run. The boys were all right, and no one knows it better than themselves. There were nearly 100 in line, which is a big showing, considering that a number were footballing it in California.
After the cadets came the school children, who made the biggest showing of any in the parade. There were 400 of them, all carrying flags.
Then came a number of carriages and busses with Red Cross people. I doubt if these good ladies were not the real heroes of the occasion. It was the result of their careful planning and hard work that the reception of our soldier boys was made the success it was.
Last in the procession, but not least, was a carriage containing Governor Sadler, Controller Davis and Colonels Boyle and Conbole of the Governor's staff. They purposely took the rear guard, which was in striking contrast to the action of Governor Gage when the First California came home. However, Governor Sadler was not allowed to remain in the background. When the parade counter-marched his excellency was compelled willy nilly to take the lead.
We threw a bouquet a few paragraphs back to the grand marshal. Now we want to compliment his aide. Paul Moorman and George Robinson filled those positions with great satisfaction to themselves, and, we presume, to everybody else concerned.
The Banquet.
The ladies of the Red Cross society and the banquet committee covered themselves with glory last evening. The banquet the ladies served was from both an oratorical and gastronomical point a big success, perfectly in keeping with a day of big successes. The feast was spread in the lower floor of the pavilion. At least four hundred people sat down to discuss

At the Reception.

Everybody attended the reception at the pavilion last evening. For the first hour or two it was a handsbaking time. The black swallowtail and the army blue held conversation and while the army blue recounted experiences across the waters the swallowtail told what had taken place at home since the cruel war began.
There were ladies there in the number of half a regiment or more. It was remarkable how strong an affinity for the troopers was developed by these young ladies. The only unpleasant feature of it all was that there were not enough of the fair ones to go around.
This caused a charge to the rescue to be ordered by the Virginia militiamen, the battalion members and Torrey's rough riders. Even the Grand Army of the Republic rallied to the rescue. The University cadets took what was left. A fellow without a uniform on stood not the remotest chance.
There was some hitch caused in the program by the non-arrival of a piano but Committeeman Hodgkinson fixed that all right and after that the proverbial marriage bell was not in it.
There was a big crowd there but room was found to dance by those so inclined and thus the night passed away. When time came to end the festivities Sol Levy was called upon for a solo. This cleared the hall.
Changes in the Roll.
In yesterday's JOURNAL appeared a list of the members of Troop A. To account for the changes that have taken place in the muster roll we have secured the following report from a member of the troop:
Wagoner Fred Stanley, Farrier Mike O'leary and Privates William Saxton, Charles Stewart and John Kiely were discharged in Manila, and re-enlisted in the Eleventh Volunteer Cavalry. Stanley is now a line sergeant, and Saxton a first sergeant.
Saddler Gelkey and Privates Burch and Kennedy also enlisted in the Eleventh.
Trumpeter Leonard and Private Taylor remained in the islands and engaged in business.
Private Greenwood is in the Quartermaster's department.
Corporal Cogan and Privates Ostrim, Budden and Leister received their discharges in Manila, but came home on the Ohio.
Corporals Froslig and Richards took their discharges in Manila, and came home before the others.
Private Mickleson died of typhoid fever, and Bruce and Honeymen are in the hands of the enemy.
The following changes have taken place in the commissioned officers: First Lieutenant Gignoux has received a commission in the Eleventh Cavalry; First Sergeant Freeman was advanced to a Second Lieutenantcy, and Second Lieutenant Wright was made First Lieutenant.
Several of the boys who arrived on the Ohio remained in San Francisco, where they obtained employment.
Church Notices.

Second Eleven Wins.

The second eleven of the University of Nevada shut out, by a score of 15 to 0, the eleven from Stewart Institute yesterday.
The game was called at 1 o'clock sharp. Attendance was good, there being a plentiful sprinkling of blue coats in the audience. Troop A was present by invitation.
Following was the lineup:
U. N. POS. STEWART IN.
McElroy.....l g.....Meroney
Mayhugh.....c.....Johnson
Ratbroff.....r g.....Walters
Bell.....t.....Collins
A. Riordan.....l t.....Casbbangh
O'Hara.....r e.....Hard
F. Smith.....l e.....Rhodes
Mitchell.....c....."Johnny"
Arnot.....r b.....Galbraith-c McVillar.....l h.....Harris
Acree.....f b.....Minkey
The officials were—Moorman, umpire; McCarran, referee; Sielaff, time-keeper; O'Sullivan and Donald Stubbs, linesmen.
The game consisted of two 20-minute halves. Interest was not awakened until near the end of the first half when Acree by a long run made a touchdown. Mitchell failed to kick.
Score, Second eleven, 5; Indians, 0.
Both teams buckled down to hard work in the second half. Advances were principally made on downs. There was some rough work but it kept within the bounds of fairness. The Indiana stood like a stone wall and whenever Nevada attempted to buck center there was usually a college boy to bring to life after the melee. O'Hara died three times in this half but refused to retire.
Bell made the second touchdown, Mitchell failing to secure the extra point.
The last down was made by Acree who, in the midst of a scrimmage on the Indiana's five yard line, was thrown bodily over the heads of the contestants. He lit winded but grinning. Another goal missed.
Score—Nevada, 15, Indiana, 0.

A Tamale Party.
Last evening the young ladies at "The Cottage" had a party to which the masculines of the University seemed not to have been invited, according to the meager reports received by telephone at this office. Tamales and ice-water constituted the refreshments.
State Central Committee.
There will be a meeting of the Democratic State Central Committee at the office of William Webster in Reno on Tuesday, December 5, 1899, at 12:30 o'clock P. M. A large attendance is requested as matters of importance will be considered by the Committee.

All Reno ate breakfast yesterday morning at an unseasonable hour, and hurried to the depot. Half an hour before the train bearing the volunteer cavalry arrived there was assembled a crowd that would have spoiled a thousand.

Hastings' band was there, and so was the University cadet band, both toot-ing for dear life.

It was a difficult task for train No.
6 to pick its way through the multitude that lined the track. The locomotive crept very gingerly, tiptoeing from side to side.

A feeble, half-hearted cheer arose,
but did not rise high enough to hurt itself if it should happen to fall.

Mothers, sisters and aunts, and some people who weren't relatives (just yet) smothered the troopers with sobs and kisses, and warm and strong were the handshakes of old friends.

As soon as a way could be cleared the boys in blue were escorted to the Riverside for breakfast.

Will Install the System.

The County Commissioners will be in session Tuesday. At this meeting the purchase of the Gamewell fire alarm system will be determined upon.
It was learned from a member of the board last evening that a majority were in favor of leasing the system and giving it a thorough trial. There seems to be some financial difficulties in the way of purchasing it immediately; besides, the people will want to be thoroughly convinced that it is efficient before making such an investment.

There is no doubt that Mr. Coffee's proposition met with favor, not only by the Commissioners, but by the people. For a fire like that of last Sunday the electric alarm would not have helped things very much, but in two cases out of three a telegraphic alarm gets the department on the scene in half the time that would be required without this assistance.

D. B. BOTY,
County Treasurer.

Mutual Admiration Society.

A number of high privates in the rear ranks of the Nevada Cavalry said to a reporter yesterday: "When you write up your report of to day's doings don't forget to give our officers a boost. Say that 'Scotty'—no dispar-agement in the nickname—is the best and most popular captain that went out to the islands, and that Wright and Freeman are all right, too."

Captain Linscott was up in our office early in the evening, and he put in a mighty good word for his boys.

By putting two and two together it can be easily seen that Troop A was quite a fraternal band of lead-slingers.

A Breach of Promise.

This is the title of a brand new musical farce comedy, and will be seen at McKiesick's Opera House November 25th. From reports it is one of the greatest laugh producers seen for a long time and is full of mirth and music, the various roles being portrayed by some of the foremost comedians on the stage, prominent among whom are Joseph Harrington, the author-actor;
the celebrated Bert Haverly, versatile Fred Seville, jolly Nellie Sennette, petite Rosa Crouch and many others.

The warm reception that the production has thus far received foretells a lively time when A Breach of Promise reaches town.

Two Mascots.

Two members of Troop A whose names do not appear on the muster roll attracted a good deal of attention yesterday. They are a pair of cute Filipino dogs brought home by the boys

In the District Court yesterday Judge Currier ordered foreclosure in the case of Bank of Nevada vs. John and Jane Devine.

There will be an address to the soldiers Sunday evening at the Methodist church. The boys are requested to attend in a body.
